

KILL YOUR LAZINESS

YOU HAVE WORK TO DO

Laziness feels inexpensive in the moment—but Rohn's governing idea is that it taxes your future.

BIG IDEA • Action precedes motivation. Start now, then protect the momentum.

THE FOUR DESTROYERS

- 1 Painful Awareness
Connect today's delay to tomorrow's cost.
- 2 Immediate Action
Do not wait to feel ready. Movement creates motivation.
- 3 Momentum Management
Success grows through consecutive action—not isolated bursts.
- 4 Environmental Control
Make laziness difficult and productive action easier.

THE SEVEN COSTS

- 1. Time Erosion
delay lets time work against you
- 2. Opportunity Blindness motion reveals the next opening
- 3. Character Erosion
small choices shape who you become
- 4. Momentum Murder
stopping repeatedly returns you toward zero
- 5. Dream Deflation
dreams die gradually through inaction
- 6. Potential Paralysis
unused potential remains undiscovered
- 7. Legacy Limitation

THE ACTION REVOLUTION

1 PAINFUL CLARITY

See laziness as a thief of time, dreams, opportunity, and contribution.

2 STRATEGIC INTOLERANCE

Stop negotiating with delay. Distinguish planned rest from laziness.

3 MOMENTUM MASTERY

Make action the default by starting, continuing, and compounding effort.

FIVE LAWS OF MOMENTUM

Initiation → Continuation → Acceleration → Compound Action → Legacy Action

DO THIS NOW

Name one delayed task.
Take the first physical step before you leave this card.

TAKEAWAY • Your future is not built by intentions. It is built by repeated action.
